Republican Asks End to Ban on Salary Boost

Move Would Adjust Pay for Officials During Current Terms

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An influential Republican state senator has started a move to lift the constitutional ban on salary increases for state officials and legislators during their terms of office.

Two constitutional amendments offered by Sen. J. E. Simpson of Hardin County, however, would retain the present constitutional prohibition on salary reductions for the same officials during their terms of office.

Simpson reports still a third proposed amendment, dealing with judges' salaries, will be offered soon.

The amendments—which eventually may be consolidated into a single proposal and apparently represent a serious effort on the part of the Republican majority in the legislature to cure the inequities which have plagued state officials, particularly judges, in recent years.

"The general situation in which two men doing identical jobs are compensated at different rates is potentially aggravated by the new four-year terms for state officials and state senators," Simpson explains.

All the proposals lifting the ban on salary increase during terms have been reviewed and approved by the Ohio Judicial Council, Simpson says.

Apparently tied in with the proposed amendments is a salary increase for legislators which was introduced earlier, one which would increase lawmakers' annual salaries from $5,000 to $7,500.

It is possible, however, that the lawmakers would be willing to go for a flat $2,500 annual expense allowance instead of voting themselves higher salaries.

Many legislators feel the public is not aware that they must pay all their expenses—hotels, meals, supplies and many long-distance phone calls—out of their $5,000 salaries.

Creation of an expense allowance for legislators, however, would require another constitutional amendment to reword the present provision that legislators shall receive a flat salary with no additional compensation or perquisites of any kind.

Should the present legislature approve either the proposed higher salary scale for legislators or an expense allowance for them, senators now starting four-year terms would be barred from the higher compensation for four years unless the proposed constitutional changes are approved. That would take a three-fifths vote of both houses of the legislature and a majority of the electors casting their ballots at the polls in November.

2 Girls Confess Murder Attempt

DECATUR, Ala. (AP)—Authorities say two 13-year-old girls have been charged with assault with intent to murder an eighth-grade classmate who found one of them smoking.

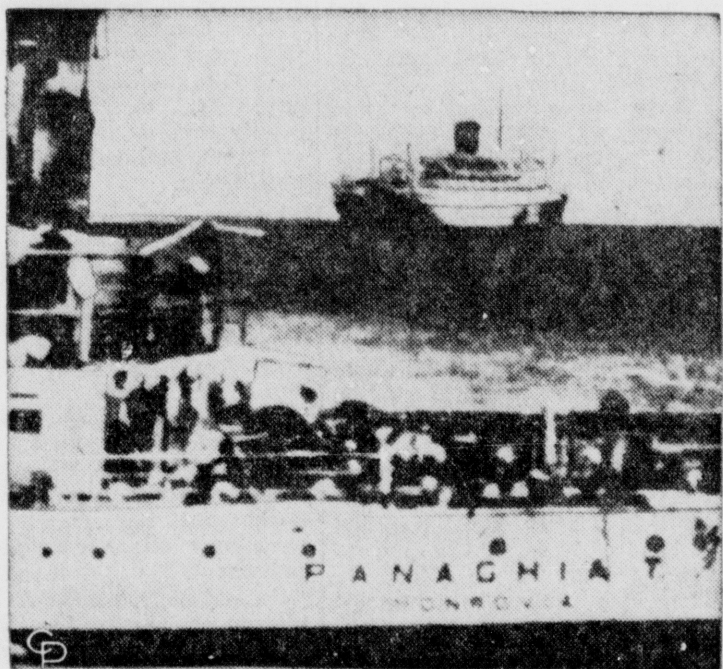

Willene Hill, also 13, is in fair condition at a Decatur Hospital after she was found stabbed in the back in a restroom at Danville High School.

Morgan County Solicitor Miles Powell said charges were filed against Linda Higdon and Dorothy Holt, both of whom were placed in the county jail Tuesday night.

L. E. B. Watts, a state investigator, said the two girls admitted plotting to kill Willene.

SAFETY IN SIGHT—The hijacked liner Santa Maria (background) comes off the horizon into the harbor of Recife, Brazil, but refuses to dock while the Portuguese rebels aboard seek guarantees they can keep the vessel. The question of sanctuary for the ship held up the landing of 620 captive passengers.

One Man Now Nearly Able To Destroy Whole Nations

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Warfare is now nearly at the point where one man by the simple movement of a finger can destroy nations.

This possibility is no longer a dream. For purposes of practical consideration it became a reality at 11 a. m. Eastern Standard Time Wednesday.

At that precise moment, the Air Force touched off a slender, three-stage missile, the Minuteman, which is designed to span 6,300 miles in less time than man can

Space Hero Now Back on Same Old Job

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A little hero is back at his old job today—just pushing levers.

The hero is Ham, the chimpanzee who rocketed away Tuesday and was picked up safe and apparently sound a few hours later 420 miles away in the South Atlantic Ocean.

The day when an American human astronaut first ventures on a similar ride in space could well depend partly on studies of Ham. Also upon careful examination of the huge capsule in which he rode, and yards of special taped information holding clues as to how the animal and his rocket actually performed on the daring ride.

Ham was flown back here Wednesday after being fished from the sea. Authorities said physical checkups and X-rays indicated he suffered no ill effects.

Ham was put right back at light workouts for several days in tests of his ability to push levers at the right times and to avoid slight electric shocks.

He had mastered this technique before his ride, and officials said data radioed from his capsule on first glance indicate he kept remembering "and thinking" how to do it despite the hazards and stresses of his space flight.

His post-flight tests will be compared for clues as to how man's brain might function in space travel.

Pirate Ship Now Unloading Its Passengers

Portuguese Rebel Chief Docks Liner In Brazilian Port

RECIFE, Brazil (AP)—Their captivity ended, the passengers of the hijacked liner Santa Maria came ashore today with thanksgiving for deliverance from a nightmare at sea.

The 20,906-ton Portuguese ship steamed into Recife at noon, anchoring just off a dock. An hour later the nearly 600 passengers began loading onto tugs for the last 500 yards of a detour that had taken them virtually the distance of a trip across the United States.

A Brazilian admiral was quoted as saying the Santa Maria reportedly would head for the high seas after the unloading of passengers. That word reached U.S. Atlantic Fleet headquarters from its Caribbean command.

The liner moved into shore after several tense sessions of bargaining between Galvao and Brazilian authorities.

The 610-foot ship sailed slowly to within 500 yards of a dock. Passengers jammed the rails, waving and shouting. Some cried with emotion at the end of their captivity.

For more than 24 hours the passengers had been within tempting sight of land—about three miles offshore—as negotiations for the landing went on. Some of the passengers had been verging on panic as rations ran short while the hot equatorial sun set down upon the ship.

Galvao has been holding out for freeing the passengers on his own terms.

The price was that his band of self-styled revolutionists be allowed to keep the ship seized at sea and be given fuel, food and water to carry on their fight against Portugal's dictator Antonio de Oliveira Salazar.

The 20,906-ton luxury liner gingerly straddled the three-mile limit of Brazil's territorial waters off Recife as the rebel leader

School Evaluation Panel Holds Its First Parley

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The newly formed 32-member Advisory Committee on Standards of School Evaluation met for the first time Wednesday and decided that any evaluation systems developed should be in terms of any interested citizen could understand.

The committee also agreed it would be wise to use existing rules as a foundation for any new system. However, a vote on the matter was postponed until the next meeting.

Meeting for Retarded Child Classes Planned February 9

Support of citizens throughout Pickaway County is needed for the establishment of classes here for severely retarded children.

First steps toward organization of a citizen's group to promote classes for Circleville and the county are planned for 7:30 p. m. February 9 in the Probate Court, Pickaway County Courthouse.

All citizens interested in starting classes here for these children are urged to attend the organization meeting. It is hoped that a Council for Retarded Children will be the outgrowth of the meeting.

Some 20-30 children in the county are not now being trained to take their place in life, although training is possible for severely retarded youngsters.

Seventy counties of Ohio's 88 have community classes for retarded children. Pickaway County

3 Quick Actions Are Taken To Spur Nation's Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Without waiting for Congress to act on his anti-recession program, President Kennedy has moved on three fronts to spur the lagging economy and relieve hardship.

At a news conference Wednesday, Kennedy ruled out any tax cut at this time as a means of dealing with the slump. But he announced he has taken these steps designed to brighten the picture:

More than $250 million in G.I. insurance dividends will be paid out this winter instead of spreading the payments through the year as planned originally.

The maximum interest rate on FHA-insured mortgages is being cut. The reduction is from 5 1/2 per cent to 5 1/4 in a move to encourage home buying and building.

An experimental stamp plan to provide free food for the needy is being put into effect in some areas of the worst chronic unemployment. These are West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Southern Illinois, Eastern Kentucky and one other section to be specified later.

Kennedy took these actions under executive authority—in advance of sending to Congress today an economic recovery program which will require approval by the legislators before it can be put into effect.

At his second session with newsmen since taking office, the new president volunteered these announcements at the start of the conference. He also disclosed he has repealed former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's controversial order cutting back the number of dependents living overseas with servicemen. Eisenhower issued the order in a move to reduce expenditure of dollars abroad.

Kennedy said the repeal "does not imply any weakening of our determination to protect the value of the dollar." He added, "It is

Church Sales Tax Rule Said Illegal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The chief of the Ohio Tax Department's tax division says a department regulation exempting from sales tax a limited number of meals served by religious and charitable organizations is illegal.

Waldemar Haase, testifying before the House Taxation Committee, said he believes the regulation which exempts up to four meals a year served by such organizations conflicts with the law.

The regulation was issued after protests to Gov. Michael V. DiSalle in 1959 over an amendment to the law that made all such meals subject to the tax. Haase contends that the rule "in effect, repealed what the legislature did in 1959."

the judgment of the Defense Department that other savings can be made which will be more satisfactory to us" and at the same time maintain morale in the armed forces.

The President's news conference was carried live on nationwide television and radio, as was his first as chief executive a week ago. White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said the next session won't be on a live basis, but he added this format "by no means" was being abandoned altogether.

At the conference which drew 80 newsmen as compared with 418 at Kennedy's first, the predominant theme was the President's expressed conviction—that stated first in his inaugural address and then in his State of the Union message—that at home and abroad things are going to get worse before they get better.

But he did say that things on the home front aren't bad enough to justify a tax cut at this time in an effort to improve business conditions.

Firemen Puzzled By Burning School

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Pupils at Firestone Park Elementary School continued their vacation today while school authorities gave their attention to a burning problem—what to do about a cinder bed under the school that has been smoldering several days.

The school's 1,005 pupils were sent home Monday when it was found the fire had warmed the furnace room walls to nearly 600 degrees. C. B. Snodgrass, assistant superintendent of schools, said school will be recessed at least until Monday. Snodgrass said attempts will be made to extinguish the fire by shooting a mixture of cement into it to solidify the entire mass.

Steel Chief Is Optimistic, But Cautious

NEW YORK (AP)—A modest upturn in steel production and employment is foreseen in the spring by Roger M. Blough, chairman of United States Steel Corp.

The industry currently is operating at roughly one half its capacity with little indication of important immediate gains.

But Blough clothed his optimism in cautious terms. He said he could offer no specific measurement of the expected improvement.

He pinned his forecast largely on dwindling inventories that he estimated at below 10 million tons nationally, a depressed level touched since 1954 only at the end of 1959's prolonged strike.

It would be an "inventory miracle," he said, if consumers could get along on any less steel than they now are stocking.

The head of the country's No. 1 steelmaking concern also detected a "slightly better" new order trend in recent weeks and scattered other "signs of spring appearing."

Talking with newsmen, the one time Pennsylvania school principal liked hopefully to pickups in tinplate business, the auto industry, construction and household appliance manufacturing in the spring and summer months.

Thus, at 7:41 a. m., Phil, more aptly described as a groundhog or woodchuck, carried out his annual duty as a weather prognosticator. Six more weeks of winter, he said.

Phil didn't actually say it. His shadow spoke for him. For that's the legend that has existed in Punxsutawney since before the turn of the present century, 1898 to be exact, according to Sam Light, president of the Punxsutawney Groundhog Club.

Kennedy Calls For Faster U.S. Spending

Higher Aged Pensions, New Idle Pay Sought As Unemployment Rises

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today handed Congress a sweeping anti-recession program built on faster federal spending, higher old age pensions and an emergency extension of unemployment pay.

Kennedy's tightly-packed 7,500-word special message brought the news that joblessness rose by 900,000 in January to a total of 5.4 million.

The President said he would submit further proposals to Congress within 75 days if business does not improve.

His message spoke of the general expectation that there will be "minor improvements" in business this year. But he added "speaking out of realism, not pessimism, we cannot rule out the possibility of further deterioration if we fail to act."

Kennedy predicted his economic proposals would "abate the waste and misery" of unemployment and "restore momentum to the American economy." He said they would not, by themselves, unbalance the $80.9-billion budget unveiled last month by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Yet Kennedy did not provide Congress with cost estimates of any of his proposals today as he:

1. Called for quick approval of higher Social Security benefits for some 4 1/2 million Americans, including a $10 boost in the minimum monthly pension; a two-step, two-year increase in the $1 minimum wage to $1.15 and then $1.25 an hour; a speedup in federal contract-letting and construction; government aid to depressed areas; federal relief payments for the children of jobless fathers.

Kennedy proposed paying for Social Security expansion by adding another of one per cent to the tax on both employers and workers. The increase would go into effect Jan. 1, 1963, along with the rise of 1/4 of one per cent already scheduled for that date.

2. Announced executive actions—beside those disclosed in his news conference Wednesday—to stimulate credit, release $724 million of highway funds to the states at once, and start a quickie expansion of urban renewal, local public works and college housing.

3. Disclosed he shortly will send Congress tax reform proposals to spur business investment and close tax loopholes; and another message demanding permanent measures to "revise and strengthen" the unemployment compensation system—presumably by setting some form of federal standards for the states—and to extend the coverage to "several million" more workers in the retail and other trades.

Boy, 13, Slays Mother after School Fuss

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—An argument over school work led to the shotgun slaying of an Akron mother by her 13-year-old son, police reported.

Shot twice in the head Wednesday night was Mrs. James Bowman. Police Sgt. Eugene Gamble said the son, Chris, telephoned police and told of shooting his mother with a double-barreled shotgun.

Two other children, Amy Kathleen, 9, and 2-year-old Paul, were watching when Chris fired the blasts in the kitchen of the Bowman home. Mrs. Bowman had five children.

Her husband was working at a rubber factory at the time of the shooting.

Sgt. Gamble said Chris, a good-looking but pudgy youngster, appeared to be in shock. The boy was taken in for questioning.

Police quoted him as saying his mother had bawled him out for the report card he brought home two days ago and told him to buckle down with his school work. When Mrs. Bowman went to the basement to wash clothes, Chris got his father's gun, firing at her as she returned to the kitchen, police said.

September Election Logical

It's in the realm of fantasy, but a suggestion by ex-President Eisenhower before he retired could solve a few of the nation's politicking problems. Eisenhower recommended that the presidential election be held in September to give the new President time to organize his work before outlining his policies to Congress.

In particular, Eisenhower said it is "silly" for the retiring President to prepare messages on the budget and the state of the union, when they will be revised by the new President.

If the election and inaugural dates were moved up two or three months, the lame duck period would be eliminated and some other problems or annoyances would be solved.

Everyone remembers plaintive requests for shorter presidential campaigns. If the election were in September, six weeks after the conventions, the campaign would necessarily be short, and the candidates would have no alternative to a quick review of the issues.

Sniffles Bring Rare Drama

NEW YORK (AP)—The chances are better than ever that if you live in a city and work in an office, you have had a cold this winter—and perhaps have one right now.

There are two types of cold: The common cold. This is the kind everyone else gets.

The uncommon cold. This is the kind you get.

Few hospitals, however, can match in pure human drama the antics of the creatures of the office zoo when the sneezing season gets under way. Here are a few familiar victims you can probably spot in your own firm:

The panic button pusher—at the first sign of a sniffle, he screams, "It's probably another flu epidemic like the one in 1918. I think the Russians are spreading it secretly." He tries to get everyone to sign a petition demanding that the whole place be disinfected.

Camille at the typewriter—The pretty secretary figures that if she can make her cough sound properly hollow and racking, the boss will give her the day off—which will give her a chance to see a afternoon movie, or catch up on her shopping.

The braggart—"You got a little cold?" he says. "What are you complaining about? I've got sinus trouble, grippe, bronchitis and swollen tonsils to say nothing about my ulcers. They're kicking up again, too."

The hypochondriac—Whenever any one in the office comes in with a new cold, he gets a new one, too.

The indignant moralist—"If half the money this country spends on tobacco was spent on scientific research, they could lick the problem of the common cold in a year," he yelps, then adds as an after thought, "By the way, could

A September election might bring out more voters, particularly in Alaska and along our northern border, where November sometimes brings snowshoe weather. A November inauguration in Washington would almost certainly be free of snow flurries. The inaugural parade could be a triumphal march instead of a survival contest.

Many advantages are evident in the Eisenhower proposal, beyond those he listed. But such a change would be based on logic, while the present system has the weight of tradition behind it. Logic doesn't show in a contest like that.

Keep Quiet on Gold Plans

What President Kennedy said at his first press conference about gold is correct but should be have said it? It would seem to me that any statement on gold should be sudden, without warning so that the speculators have no impetus to drive up the price. Much of our troubles arise from the speculative activities on the London market.

The United States purchases gold at $35 an ounce. The price Friday on the London market was $35.43 an ounce. The speculative price has been as high as over $40 an ounce.

Gold these days is mined principally in South Africa and Soviet Russia. There is small mining in the United States, Canada and elsewhere but these account for so little that they need not enter into any calculation.

The South African gold is extremely important and the American companies interested in the mineral have made huge investments in South African mines. However, as the speculative price of gold is higher than the American price, little, if any, of the South African product has, in recent months, come to this country. It is consumed mostly by European banks and individuals. Also, the Japanese have been buying gold.

The United States needs gold to provide a 25 per cent coverage for its currency. It has recently been losing gold too rapidly and in too great quantities for economic safety. There are, of course, those who do not believe in a gold basis for money and who do believe in fiat money despite the frightful experience of other countries with inflationary procedures.

One cannot argue with such persons because they refuse to recognize what has been true since ancient Egypt and Babylon that the human race traditionally and historically recognizes money as good when backed by gold and inadequate when not backed by gold.

In the United States, there has often been some opposition to gold. Probably the most effective of the anti-gold movements was the Populist Party which developed in the Middle West in opposition to Wall Street.

The principal proponent of Populism was William Jennings Bryan, who ran on the Democratic ticket for President three times and was thrice defeated. He wanted the ratio of silver to gold to be 16 to one and his effort was popularly called "The Free Silver Movement."

The Western farmer wanted what he called cheap money to move his crops, but cheap money could not have developed American industry which was borrowing money all over the world to get going. In 1890, a new process was developed for the processing of gold which made the mineral more accessible.

Between the Administrations of William McKinley and Franklin D. Roosevelt, the United States remained on the gold standard and American money was sound and hard. Franklin D. Roosevelt went off the gold standard and the Supreme Court upheld him in the Gold Repeal Joint Resolution decision.

Nevertheless, the United States developed into the largest possessor of gold, holding a hoard of $24,500,000,000 at one time. This has now deteriorated into about $17,000,000, which is inadequate. The problem is to restore the American gold hoard to at least $18,000,000 to protect the dollar, to bring back to the United States about $200,000,000 of "hot money"—money out of circulation now resting in many parts of the world and to restore respect for our currency universally.

This will not be achieved by a Task Force of a lot of professors who do not understand the operations of money markets. One such professor wrote me that nobody needs actual currency to move money from the United States to some other country because letters of credit and such devices move money, but the professor apparently did not understand the nature of "hot money," of untaxed money, of bootleggers and heroin dealers money. He apparently does not understand the nature of the tax heavens and what they do to American currency.

These are matters that the President must deal with if our gold is to be recaptured or if new gold is to be brought in. To announce a fixed date when the problem will be dealt with is to stimulate speculation, to raise the price of gold in the London market which means that more gold will seep out of the United States.

The best way to handle a sensitive commodity like gold is to be absolutely silent about it—but absolutely.

"Well, the improbable has happened—the ironing board collapsed before I did!"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

MARC CONNELLY recalls the evening Robert Benchley teetered over to a very fancily attired gentleman and ordered, "Please call me a taxicab." "Sir!" exploded the gentleman, "I'll have you know I am a full admiral in the United States Navy."

"My error," conceded Benchley. "Call me a battleship."

Just about the dreariest jokes in the world are the accounts of hooched-up husbands trying to sneak into bed without arousing their terrible-tempered wives. One of the better ones, however, concerns the wily party who paused en route in the kitchen and laboriously tied all the pots, pans, and trays he could find to a rope. He then proceeded upstairs, dragging the rope behind him and muttering happily, "She'll never hear me in all this racket."

"Two of my rabbits," writes Tillie Schnibbe, "went off into the woods last week. It was a hare-raising experience."

Weekly Food Review

Ribs of beef, hearty fare for freezing winter weather, top the headline parade in the nation's supermarkets and neighborhood groceries this week.

Market supplies are running slightly larger than a year ago, government experts say. Production of the upper grades of beef from grain-fed cattle is expected to continue on the heavy side.

with more middle or lower grades than formerly.

This week, however, rib roasts and steaks are far more numerous than less-expensive cuts such as chuck roast. Chains in the New York metropolitan area feature special ribs at 57 and 59 cents a pound compared with 69 a year ago.

Leg of lamb is featured in some parts of the East and lamb chops in the East and Midwest. Turkey is tops in parts of the Middle Atlantic states and Midwest.

Prices are well mixed, with roast beef and butter off a bit in some areas and gains made by veal chops, pork chops and fryers in others. Eggs are higher by 2 or 4 cents a dozen over a wide area.

Heavy shipments of cabbage put the leafy vegetable at the head of the best buy list among vegetables this week, and also at the top of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's February list of plentiful foods.

Others on the best buy list include beets, broccoli, carrots, cauliflower, eggplant, endive, escarole, lettuce, parsnips, turnips, rutabagas, spinach, old crop butternut squash and several types of sweet potatoes such as orange and yellow Jersey and Oklahoma type.

Besides cabbage, good buys are beans, brussels sprouts, celery, corn, dandelion greens, parsley, radishes, straight-necked yellow squash from Florida, peppers, tomatoes and new round red potatoes from Florida.

Medium yellow onions also are a good buy. Mushrooms, cucumbers, peas, watercress and the first California asparagus are fairly expensive.

Macintosh and Cortland apples, limes, tangerines and oranges head the best buy list among fruits. Avocados, bananas, emperors, grapes, grapefruit, lemons, pineapples and anjou pears from the west and northwest are good buys. The fairly expensive group includes Mexican cantaloupes, smallish peacock variety watermelons, also from Mexico, and a few strawberries.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—Now the banks are going in for marketing research. They want to know what makes their customers tick. Above all they want more customers. And they want more business from old or potential ones.

Competition to lure both savers and borrowers is growing. So the American Bankers Association is out today with a how-to manual. Its aim: To tell banks, big and small, how to find out what's wrong, if anything, with their present market and how to increase it.

This is an age of consumer research. Your motives, prejudices and buying habits are dissected and then put back into a pattern intended to be profitable for this or that industry. Banks are now turning to the technique of the day.

Their battle to attract and handle more customers is spurred by great growths of such competitors as savings and loan associations and credit unions, and by such special investing fields as mutual funds, the stock market, variable annuities, various forms of insurance, and U.S. savings bonds.

The ABA's new research manual would show each of the nation's 14,000 banks how to assess changes in its own position in the competitive race and then to find out what its customers are like, what they want, why they are going elsewhere with their savings or to borrow, and how they can be brought back.

The association has been trying out its manual in some areas and here are a few examples of what some banks have discovered about themselves.

A serious age problem showed up at one midwest bank—not among the top brass, as you might expect, but among the customers. It found 6 out of 10 of its checking accounts were held by persons 55 or older and representing 60 per cent of total demand deposits. Management got busy with a school savings plan, a campaign among more youthful adults and a remodeling job on its quarters to appeal to younger tastes.

A Missouri bank found a disturbing income bracket change. Once it enjoyed business from people in all brackets, occupations and locations. Now its customers are predominantly lower income workers, both white and blue collar. As a result, the bank is ringing doorbells in those parts of town where its business has been slipping and also wooing the more affluent.

The ABA says some of the banks' difficulties come from their growth itself. Banks have zoomed right along, especially since World War II. Many now count their customers in thousands where once they did in hundreds.

Gone is much of the old time personal touch. Customers don't know their bankers. And the bankers don't know their customers—and more important, no longer know everything about the customer's business that a bank once did.

To get back some of this personal touch—on a group basis at least, if not individually—the ABA experts are turning to the modern technique of customer research. If it's the thing in other businesses, why not in banking?

Courthouse Aides

Protest Dismissal

LISBON, Ohio (AP)—A feud developed Wednesday between Republican county commissioners and five Democratic appointees to jobs at the Columbiana County Courthouse who were fired by the commissioners, effective Tuesday.

The five, claiming civil service status, showed up for work Wednesday morning, but found Republican appointees in their places.

A Republican majority took over control of the board of commissioners Jan. 1 after two years of Democratic control. Last week the Republican commissioners—Walter Hunston, board president, and Galen Greenisen—voted to fire six Democratic jobholders after County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw advised them that the employees did not have civil service protection.

GOP Ponders Higher Salary For Officials

Wednesday was a busy day in the legislature; 67 new bills were introduced and two were passed as a head of legislative steam began to build up.

The House passed and sent to the Senate with only two dissenting votes a bill authorizing Ohio to share proportionately with neighboring states the cost of constructing bridges over the Ohio River. Under present law, Ohio can participate only in the cost of maintaining such bridges.

The measures, if the Senate goes along, would mean Ohio funds will go into the construction of bridges in the Cincinnati-Covington, Ky., Marietta - Parkersburg, W.Va., Chesapeake - Huntington, W.Va., and Bridgeport-Wheeling, W.Va. areas in connection with interstate highways.

The Senate adopted twin resolutions to clear up its own status as a continuing body and Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's reappointment of Harry Hoffheimer of Cincinnati to the Racing Commission after failure of the 103rd General Assembly to confirm him.

The resolutions asked opinions of the attorney general. Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, said that if the Senate, because of recently effective four-year terms, is ruled to be a continuing body, it is possible Hoffheimer's original appointment still is before the Senate.

Among the bills plopped into the hopper Wednesday were measures to:

- Levy a property tax on an estimated 45,000 house trailers in Ohio.
- Require the notation of moving traffic violations on driver licenses.
- Permit sale of intoxicants after 7:30 p.m. on New Year's Eve when it falls on a Sunday.
- Provide broadcasters immunity from revealing news sources, the same immunity now enjoyed by newspaper and wire service reporters.
- Allow absent voting by persons who become ill or disabled after the deadline for absentee voting.
- Relieve relatives of responsibility for support of mentally deficient patients in state institutions.
- Allow creation of county civil service commissions.
- Enact a conflict-of-interest law proposed by DiSalle.
- Extend voter registration from two to four years.
- Require a life sentence for premeditated murder unless the jury recommends the death sentence.
- Permit statewide notary commissions, now limited to single counties.
- Allow school principals, as well as superintendents, to suspend pupils.
- Allow township contracts for fire protection to cross state lines.
- Increase exempted income of aid for the blind recipients to $85 a month plus one-half of income above that amount.
- Require persons selling out-of-state real estate in Ohio to be licensed by Ohio's Division of Securities.
- Among seven of DiSalle's appointees confirmed by the Senate was Theodore Kauer as Ohio director of public works for a term ending next December.
- The Senate adopted a resolution commending retiring Judge Roy J. Gillen of the Fourth District Court of Appeals for distinguished service and another congratulating Sen. Edward H. Dell, D-Butler,

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has said enough now to indicate he intends to follow a moderate course and that the keynote to his presidency will be action and change—but not drastic change.

There are points on which he disagrees with the policies of his predecessor President Eisenhower. And these are apt to get more attention than the points on which he agrees.

But there are plenty of points of agreement between him and Eisenhower, as Kennedy disclosed further at his second news conference Wednesday.

Some of the fields in which he does not see eye to eye with Eisenhower may have profound importance to the people affected. Still, in one field after another, instead of proposing something completely new, he simply wants to go a step beyond where Eisenhower was willing to go.

For instance, Eisenhower favored a medical care plan for the aged. So does Kennedy. But Kennedy wants to tie it into Social Security. Eisenhower was unwilling to go that far.

Some of Kennedy's statements Wednesday illustrate strong differences with Eisenhower.

He opened his news conference with the announcement he was reversing Eisenhower's critical cut in the number of servicemen's dependents allowed to go overseas with them. This affected the morale of the armed forces.

But it was part of Eisenhower's effort to reduce the flow of American gold abroad.

Kennedy also announced he had on his 64th birthday. The House adopted resolutions of sympathy in connection with the deaths of Frank H. Ward, former member from Monroe County, and Herman L. Mantle, father of former House and Senate member C. Lee Mantle, R-Lake.

ordered, in an attempt to encourage increased home-building, a reduction from 5½ to 5 per cent in insured loans by the Federal Housing Administration.

These were definite reversals of Eisenhower policy. But in one field after another Kennedy showed agreement with Eisenhower thinking. He even went out of his way at times to note he was following Eisenhower policy. Some examples:

Asked why he had cracked down on belligerent speeches by high military officers, Kennedy said this was to avoid conflict with administration policy which has been non-belligerent. He pointed out Eisenhower had done the same.

Eisenhower was opposed to a tax cut to overcome the business slump. Kennedy said he is, too, at least at this time.

Eisenhower in his budget message to Congress last month — seeking new revenues to balance the budget — asked Congress to vote an increase in postal rates and the tax on highway and aviation gasoline.

Kennedy said he will do the same. In fact, he said he would ask for a change in only a few items in Eisenhower's budget.

When it was suggested to him

Hillsboro Restaurant Is Damaged by Fire

HILLSBORO, Ohio (AP)—Fire Wednesday caused an estimated $8,000 damage to the Highlander Restaurant. The interior was badly damaged, and an adjoining bowling alley received minor smoke damage.

The fire apparently started behind the bar. The restaurant was closed at the time.

Located on Ohio 50 at the western edge of town, the restaurant is owned by Mrs. Mae Means of Columbus and operated by Alex Florio of Hillsboro.

By James Marlow

that his State of the Union message to Congress last week was critical of Eisenhower "military policy and judgment," Kennedy said:

He is waiting, perhaps until the end of February, for his own aides to give him a report on America's military strength. And he added:

Until then "I would not attempt to make a criticism or suggest that we are going to have to change the plans made by President Eisenhower."

Nor has he backed away from any commitments made by Eisenhower in the foreign field. Asked his position on defending Berlin against Communist pressure, which Eisenhower was pledged to do, Kennedy said:

"My view... is the same as the view expressed by the previous administration... There is no change in our view on Berlin."

In 1957 a committee headed by H. Rowan Gaither reported to Eisenhower on American defenses. At the time the Washington Post said the report pictured the United States as "in the gravest danger of its history."

The Eisenhower administration tagged it top secret and never released it. Kennedy was asked if he'd turn it loose. He said not now, not until it has been studied, because some of it involved American security.

Changes as they come should in some cases be subtle, some blunt, but probably in very few extreme. Still, in the end the total of them could shove and shape America into a new look at home and abroad.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

The Worrying Kind!

DEAR ABBY: I am in my early 30's. I am married to a woman the same age. She is very young looking. In fact, she is constantly asked for her "I.D." card when we go where drinks are served.

Now for my problem: My hair has suddenly started to turn gray and I am beginning to look more like her father than her husband.

My barber suggested I let him dye it. He said he could do it to look so natural no one would know it was dyed. In your opinion would this be deceptive and morally wrong?

GRAYING FAST
DEAR GRAYING: It is no more "deceptive" or "morally wrong" for a man to dye his hair than a woman. Although in my opinion, gray hair doesn't "age" a man—it only makes him look more attractive. But black, red, green, or gray — be glad you have enough to drag a comb through.

DEAR ABBY: How can I get a boy to like me better than any other girl? I am 14 and he is 15.

WANTS A BOY FRIEND
DEAR WANTS: Keep your hair smelling nice. Be pleasant to his friends. Laugh as if you mean it, but don't giggle. Let him know you like him, but don't want to "own" him. Talk about things he likes to talk about. Be an attentive listener. Dress like a girl. Don't try to make him jealous. Respect his freedom. Let him lead when you're dancing.

DEAR ABBY: Paul and I were married a year ago. He was divorced and had two sons who lived with their mother. I am expecting our first baby in May. Paul says if I have boy he wants to name it Paul, Jr. I don't want to because he already has a son named after himself. His first-born, Paul, Jr., is now 8 years old and lives two blocks from us. Am I "stubborn, narrow-minded a dismissal" for feeling this way?

PAUL'S SECOND WIFE
DEAR WIFE: No, I think you're sensible. Tell Paul he had better come up with another name. Only one "Junior" to a Papa.

Nice for a Sunday - night buffet: slice a cooked chicken and mold it in aspic made from chicken stock. At serving time garnish the unmolded jellied chicken with an abundance of minced parsley and some lemon slices.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DESPERATE AND UNDER AGE": Send me your name and address at once and I will send you the name and address of a free Home For Unwed Mothers immediately. This will be strictly between us.

"What's your problem?" For a personal reply from Abby, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

News Conference Told of Program

Kennedy added, however, that he will take another look at the situation in two or three months and determine then "what action can be usefully taken."

As for whether he had painted a somber picture of international and domestic conditions so he later could claim credit for any improvement, Kennedy replied evenly:

"They are painted accurately as I understand them to be, and anyone who makes the judgment that it was laid on thick for political reasons is making a serious mistake. I hope they would give us the benefit of the doubt of an honest view."

Kennedy's first remark at the conference was that he and his wife had received more than 100,000 congratulatory messages since the election, the birth of their son, John Jr., last Nov. 25, and the inauguration. He said it won't be possible to reply to all the messages so he and Mrs. Kennedy were taking this means of expressing their gratitude.

The session dealt with these other matters:

Airmen — The President would be glad to have newsmen interview two Air Force fliers freed last week by the Soviets — after the Air Force has completed talks with them. Interviews have been banned to this point on the grounds they might newly strain Soviet-American relations.

Speech Clearance—Kennedy defended his administration's policy of insisting that speeches by military or other government officials on national security matters be in line with White House views. He said this also was a policy of the Eisenhower regime, and that "the people and the countries abroad have a right to expect that (such) speeches represent the opinion of the national government."

Debates — If he is a candidate for re-election in 1964, Kennedy would be willing to debate his Republican opponent on television — just as he did his GOP rival, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, last year.

Conferences—Kennedy left open the possibility of his meeting soon with Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle. Replying to a question, the President said any announcement regarding such visits always must be timed after consultation with the countries involved.

Civil Rights — He is considering, Kennedy said, what steps he can take on his own authority—without enactment of new legislation—in the field of civil rights. He hopes the study will be concluded shortly.

Legislation—The House vote enlarging its rules committee means congressmen will have an opportunity to vote on controversial administration proposals, but the nip and tuck ballot on the committee issue means "we are going to have a close debate" on many of the proposals.

Living Costs—"In all of the programs that we will put forward," Kennedy said, "we will pay due care to the problem of preventing any stimulation of the economy resulting in an excessive increase in the cost of living."

Berlin — The new administration regards the Communist threat to Berlin as a serious matter, just as the Eisenhower regime did.

Farm — Within the next week legislation dealing with feed grains will go to Congress. By the end of the month legislation on the wheat surplus problem will be offered. Kennedy declined to provide any detail.

Outlook—Had he found the world situation very much worse on taking office than he had anticipated? "I think," Kennedy replied, "the situation is less satisfactory than it was last fall." As examples, he cited developments in Laos, Cuba and the Congo.

Revenue—He will ask Congress for the same new revenues the Eisenhower administration did in budgeting for the fiscal year starting July 1, Kennedy said. But he noted that Congress always has been reluctant to vote such things as the higher postal rates the old regime requested.

Prisoners—As for the six Americans sentenced to 30 years imprisonment in Cuba, "we are going to attempt to protect the interests of American citizens who are there." And the possibility of winning release of five Americans jailed for more than six years in Communist China is "a point of the greatest possible concern" to the new administration.

Kennedy shattered tradition by taking time to respond to a woman reporter's question after the formal end of the news conference. Put by Sarah McClendon, representing Texas and New England newspapers, the question was whether Kennedy planned any steps to assure that statements by Adlai E. Stevenson, ambassador to the United Nations, coincided with his own on Red China. The President said he hopes there will be future coordination, but added he wasn't criticizing Stevenson.

HOW ARFUL—Brownie, Anthony Matia's poodle, encounters one of life's little tragedies near home in New York. It's a dog's life.

Phone Transfer Bill Is Offered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Rep. Martin W. Feigert, D-Van Wert, said today he would sponsor a bill authorizing the Public Utilities Commission to allow a patron, such as a telephone subscriber, to transfer from one franchise area to another to get better service.

A second proposal to be sponsored by Feigert would permit the commission, when considering rate increase applications, to base its decision on services being rendered by utility firms.

Members of the local Sorosis Club have been practicing for the three one-act plays they will present at 8 p. m. February 11, at the School Auditorium.

The characters in the play, "Never Trust a Man" are Emily played by Mrs. Russell Wardell, Betty, Mrs. Paul Cxheim; Sally—Hattie — Mrs. William Easterday; Lucretia — Mrs. Howard Stauffer and Rose — Mrs. Harry Keller, Jr.

This is a comedy written by Arthur Leroy Kaser. Betty overhears her mother phoning that George is going to give Rose a ring and the news is too thrilling to keep. Betty tells Sally, who secretly adores George, and she is heartbroken.

Then, when gossip Aunt Hattie and the spinster Lucretia show up, Betty merely hints that George has trifled with the love of a sweet girl. The spinsters aren't a bit surprised. They add to the tale, and shortly a lovely girl is reported dying all because of fickle George. Mother returns and the fun really begins.

The characters in "Needle, Thread and Jabber" are Arabella Atkins — Mrs. Norman Leist; Tilly — Mrs. Howard Pond; Emma, the maid — Mrs. William McOmber; Josephine Judy — Mrs. Paul Whitesed; Lena Olsen — Mrs. Don McDill; Tabitha Timson — Mrs. Jack Brayshaw; Fannie Fandango — Mrs. Ted Corcoran; Lucretia Longnecker — Mrs. Eugene Bush; Melinda Marshberry — Mrs. Walter Wright and Pansy Prattle — Mrs. Francis Snyder.

MRS ATKINS is the hostess to her sewing circle. The ladies think that they are doing much good by sewing for the poor natives of Africa but their husbands think otherwise. They think that charity begins at home and decide to do something about it.

The third play is entitled "Did You Say Mink?"

Cast of characters is: Mrs. Martin — Mrs. Gordon Rhil; Mrs. Willoughby — Mrs. Carl Long; Ruth Doyle — Mrs. Dallas Valentine; Bessie Potts — Sylvia Johnson; Essie Potts — Mrs. Winfred Bidwell; Mrs. Chandler — Mrs. John West; Azalea — Mrs. Carl Hooks; Matilda Brown — Mrs. Robert Willis; Lorraine May — Mrs. Art James; Winfred Wiggins — Mrs. Harold Fry; Mrs. Shelley Mortimer — Mrs. Ray Horch.

So determined to get a maid she'll offer the use of her fur coat on days off. That's Mrs. Martin and the bait works. The trouble is that most of the applicants are more interested in the coat than in the job. Mrs. Willoughby, a neighbor contributes her service by answering the telephone and doorbell, and trying to snag one of the cast-offs, as a maid by offering her dyed muskrat. Mrs. Ida Ware is directing the plays.

New Chief U.S. Educator Is Philosopher

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Sterling M. McMurrin, 47, a quiet, affable philosopher who believes in federal direction to keep the nation's schools from drifting off course, is the new U.S. commissioner of education.

The academic vice president at the University of Utah was appointed Tuesday by President Kennedy. He succeeds Lawrence G. Derthick in the $20,000-a-year job.

"I believe that certain types of federal aid are both desirable and necessary for education," McMurrin says.

"I see no reason why federal aid to education must mean some kind of federal dictation to local institutions."

Installment Plan

SAN ANGELO, Tex. (AP) — Home owners are not the only ones who buy lawn mowers on the installment plan.

The San Angelo School Board voted to buy a seven-unit $5,800 mower and stipulated it would be purchased on the installment plan.

of Mrs. Paul Whitesed. Guest speaker will be the Rev. Paul Wachs. Assisting Mrs. Whitesed will be Mrs. Eugene Schleich, Mrs. Warren Wright and Ms. William Keller.

One of the key proposals in the Kennedy legislative program is a bill providing federal aid to education. McMurrin is almost certain to play a major part in drafting this measure.

In addition to his administrative duties, McMurrin has served as professor of philosophy at the University of Utah since 1948. Until last year, he served six years as dean of the College of Letters and Science.

McMurrin adds another Phi Beta Kappa key to the growing number in the Kennedy administration. He won membership in the national honorary scholarship fraternity while obtaining degrees at the University of Utah. He received his doctorate from the University of Southern California.

Kennedy Urged Poverty, Hopelessness Hit Many in Coal, Steel Areas

Ag Area Solons See Little Chance for Drastic Changes Now

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats and Republicans who steered farm legislation in Congress in recent years had this advice today for the Kennedy administration: Build on existing farm programs.

The legislators saw little chance in Congress for any drastic farm proposals.

The advice comes before the new administration gets down to drafting the farm proposals President Kennedy will submit to Congress within the next two weeks.

A three-member task force committee on "the key elements of the agricultural situation" handed the new administration its farm program recommendations Tuesday.

They came closer, in some respects, to meeting promises of the Republicans rather than of the Democrats in the 1960 campaign.

The committee opposed increases in price supports for major commodities and expressed the view that farmers would be unlikely to support rigid farm production control measures.

Kennedy's campaign farm program and the Democratic platform favored higher price supports and measures to control farm production and to halt surplus output.

On Capitol Hill today, Sen. Alben J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the senate agriculture committee, said: "With the possible exception of wheat and its surpluses, I think the best chances are to improve and continue our existing programs."

In the House, Rep. Charles B. Boevert of Iowa, senior Republican on the House Agriculture Committee, said he doubted that Congress would pass a general farm bill this year.

Another veteran farm legislator, Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., questioned the alarm of some persons over the surpluses of food and farm products in this country.

"If (Soviet Premier) Nikita Khrushchev could match our farm production he would feel he was on top of the world," Aiken said.

Members of the task force were Lauren K. Soth, editorial page editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune; J. Norman Efferson, dean of the College of Agriculture of Louisiana State University; and Jesse W. Tapp, vice president of the Bank of America at San Francisco.

New claims for the week ending Jan. 28 totaled 34,030, compared with 26,147 the week before.

However, the number of claimants out of a job a week or more declined slightly from 215,869 to 215,562 over the same period, officials said.

The all-time high since the law was passed in 1939 was 218,422 continuing claimants in April 1958.

EDITOR'S NOTE: "I used to be a worker, a man, a husband, a provider. I no longer am any of these things. I cannot find a job." So spoke an ex-coal miner in Johnstown, Pa., and his words reflected the poverty and hopelessness of many workers in the steel and coal industries.

Nate Polowetzky, assistant general business editor of The Associated Press, is touring the depressed labor areas. This is what he reports in his first article from the steel-coal country.

By NATE POLOWETZKY
JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP) — "I cannot identify myself," the letter read, "because I no longer have an identity."

"I used to be a worker, a man, a husband, a father, a friend, a provider, a neighbor and a member of a community, to mention only a few of my former identities; but I no longer hold a claim to any of these."

"I am no longer a worker because I cannot find a job. I cannot be a husband, a father, a provider, or even a man because I cannot provide a living for my family, which is my first responsibility."

The letter, signed, "an ex-coal miner," came to the desk of the editor of the Johnstown Tribune-Democrat.

"Ex-coal miner" said he was 43, married, and the father of 5 children, the youngest 9 years old.

In 1958, he wrote, "I received the final 'pink slip' from the mine where I had worked for more than 20 years. But until now, somehow, I still had hope."

"I believed that something would happen; somewhere a job would open up; sometime I would not be told, however, kindly 'Sorry. Too old. Nothing for you,' or 'All filled up.'"

He added: "I am healthy and vigorous; my body aches to do an honest day's work, but I can find nothing but an occasional odd job."

The letter summed up the heartbreak and despair of thousands of the unemployed in the Johnstown area; which has been a "depressed" economic section consistently since 1953.

While there is some optimism here that things will get better in the future—a pickup in the dominant steel industry and the establishment of new industries to create jobs and diversification—the present unemployed situation is bleak.

Some 16,000 men were out of work in the two-county Johnstown area in mid-December 1960. Of these 10,300 were unemployed in the immediate Greater Johnstown area. The unemployment rate was almost 17 per cent, compared to the present nationwide figure of about 7 per cent. Some other smaller communities are in worst shape.

And things have got worse since then as steel and mine employment — the two industries on which Johnstown previously depended for her economic health — continued to decline.

Johnstown is but one of some 16 chronic unemployment areas in Pennsylvania, where 433,000 persons, or 9.3 per cent of the work force, were out of jobs as of mid-December.

Legislation is pending before Congress to provide aid to the nation's depressed areas; to try to help them retain their unemployed and to help them attract new industries into their areas.

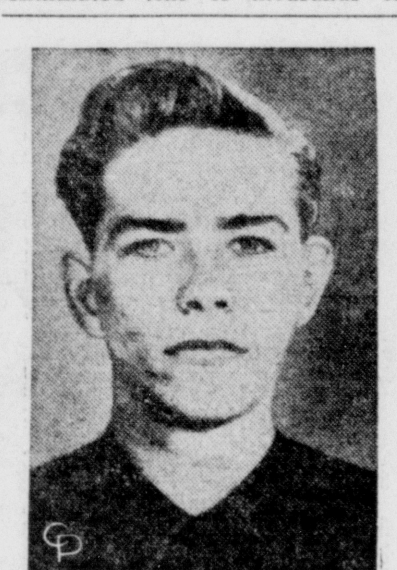

It is unlikely, however, that this legislation, authored by Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., and supported by President Kennedy, in itself will completely solve the depressed areas problem.

And even if a nationwide recovery should start—as expected by later this year—chronic unemployment probably will continue to exist in many areas.

Says Mayor Joseph Barr of Pittsburgh, in whose four-county labor market are an estimated 110,000 persons out of work, 60,000 of whom are chronically unemployed:

"Even if the steel industry returns to 100 per cent of capacity, we have reason to believe that this will not mean 100 per cent restoration of employment within the steel industry—a sentiment echoed by spokesmen of the giant Steelworkers of America Union."

As a matter of hard fact, automation and improved technological processes have permanently eliminated tens of thousands of jobs in the steel mills and will continue to eliminate more in the future while maintaining high production levels.

Steel has been hurt by the recent national business downturn; and plagued by foreign competition and loss of markets to other materials such as plastics and aluminum — although there is some argument whether these two latter factors contributed to any large unemployment.

In mining, some mines have become exhausted or are too "high cost" to operate, creating pockets of chronic unemployment. Automation has made such headway in the mines that over-all production can be increased without hiring any of the present unemployed men.

Adding to the unemployment picture in Pennsylvania is the decline in railroading as a result of the depression in steel and mining.

But throughout the depressed Pennsylvania areas there is a growing awareness that communities can no longer depend on a single industry—or two—for their economic health.

"Diversification" has become the new motto.

Some communities — Scranton, Elwood City, Altoona, Canonsburg, Meadville, are examples — have succeeded in attracting new industries through self-improvement campaigns, revising their tax structures and through local and state industrial development plans.

Next: Workers tell of their hopes for the future.

Minnesota Cattle Buyer Questioned about Murders

PINE CITY, Minn. (AP) — A roving cattle buyer whom nobody knew very well heads home in handcuffs today to answer the questions of a quiet community puzzled by murder.

Levi L. Henter, 60, is charged with murdering John Doe, an unidentified elderly man whose remains were found in the smoking ruins of Henter's recently remodeled house Jan. 18. Shotgun pellets were found in the body.

For a time Henter was thought to be the victim, although Sheriff Lawrence Thrun was not convinced. The sheriff, now returning Henter from Colquitt, Ga., knew of check forgeries and the somewhat mysterious death of Henter's second wife.

It was the wariness of a Georgia divorcee that turned up Henter—still very much alive.

Mrs. Arrie Newberry had met Henter through her son and listened to his proposal of marriage

New Brazilian Chief Says Finances Terrible

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP)—Brazil's new president, Janio Quadros, says his nation is in a "terrible financial situation" but that he will gain fiscal stability by fighting "corruption, bureaucracy and official scandals."

Quadros said in his inaugural address Tuesday night that Brazilians will have to make "sacrifices with every penny" to pay off the nation's debts. Brazil's foreign debt alone amounts to $3.8 billion, he said.

Community College Report Is Sought

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A report by a commission studying plans for community colleges in Ohio should be made as soon as possible, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Senate Democratic leaders have urged.

In a letter to Charles W. Ingler of Dayton, chairman of the Interim Commission on Education Beyond the High School, DiSalle said he is willing to share the responsibility for any needed financing and asked that the report not be delayed.

Ingler, a former director of the Legislative Service Commission, had suggested a suspension of meetings of the year-old Interim Commission on Community College Policy to "wait for the present tension to subside."

Athens Jury Indicts Nelsonville Man, 41

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—The Athens County grand jury Tuesday indicted Marion H. Pickett, 41, for second-degree murder in the shooting of his half-brother, Clifford Pickett, 53, last Nov. 20. The Picketts were neighbors on Rt. 1, Nelsonville.

Bietermann, a grocer, took the letter to the sheriff, who set Georgia officers on the trail of the cattle buyer. Henter was arrested Saturday. He waived extradition.

Much of the speculation here centers on the possibility Henter used lonely hearts clubs to meet women. Pittman said a stack of mail piled up a few weeks ago when Henter served a jail term on a bad check charge.

Henter's first two wives died within the last five years, Gertrude, July 20, 1955, after a long illness, Lulu last June in a peculiar accident. She was hurled into a water-filled ditch when his car was forced off the road, Henter told police.

Henter has served a state prison term for molesting two girls and was free on bond for check charges in two Minnesota counties.

Miami Upsets Favored Dayton By 2 Points

Bowling Green Edges Loyola as Toledoans Coast over Duquesne

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Anytime any of Southwestern Ohio's "Big Four" of basketball—Cincinnati, Xavier, Miami and Dayton—get together the "sure thing" ain't no such thing. Wednesday night was no exception.

Dayton, sporting a respectable 11-5 record, journeyed to Oxford to tangle with Miami's battle-scarred Redskins (7-7). The result: The rejuvenated Redskins hung up another scalp, their fifth straight, edging the Flyers 60-58. Miami is one of those teams that thrives on its home court.

The underdog Redskins roared to a big 15-point lead in the first half and owned a seven-point margin, 33-26, at intermission, but they had to come from behind in the closing seconds to win.

LaVerne Lawson, who scored 21 points, 17 of them in the first half, dropped in a field goal with 47 seconds to go to pull Miami into the lead, 59-58. Paul Westerkamp topped the Dayton scoring with 23 points.

That tussle wasn't the only thriller on the Ohio scene Wednesday night.

Bowling Green trailed until the closing minutes before topping Loyola of Chicago 66-65. The Falcons, now 7-9 for the season, tied the score for the first time, 57-57, with 2:51 remaining. They took the lead for good, 64-63, on a tip-in by Burley Chapman with 1:09 left.

Gerry Harkness' 28 points led Loyola, now 10-4.

In Toledo, the Rockets (12-3) built up an early lead over Duquesne (8-6) and coasted to an 89-76 triumph. Duquesne's Ned Twyman, brother of the Cincinnati Royals' Jack Twyman, and Clyde Arnold were the individual standouts, each scoring 22 points. Larry Jones and George Patterson produced 19 apiece as all five Rocket starters netted at least 14.

In the Ohio Conference, Bobby Greene led a second-half surge by Akron as the Zips dumped Ohio Wesleyan 77-62. The score was tied at half-time, 35-35. Greene scored 28 points, 16 of them in the second half when he hit eight of nine field goal attempts.

Ohio Northern (8-6) lost a hair-raiser when Ray Rolley dropped in a basket with just two seconds left, giving host Adrian (Mich.) a 59-57 win.

The remaining four games on the Ohio front were walkaways.

Defiance (13-1) crushed winless Olivet (Mich.) 107-62; Youngstown (14-4) passed the century mark for the third time this season in beating another Michigan team, Hillsdale, 103-66; Muskingum romped 61-38 over Rensselaer Poly (N.Y.) for the Muskies; fourth win in 15 games, and Geneva (Pa.) was too much for Malone as the Canton coaches fell 79-59.

Wife Credited As Cager Improves

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Butch Skeete, Texas' most improved basketball player this season, credits his current success to his wife, Gwen, whom he married last August.

Skeete's awakening has figured prominently in the Longhorns' surge to the top in the Southwest Conference race.

"I'm settled down now," Skeete remarked. "I was overweight last year, but now my wife is watching what I eat." Skeete is the only married player on the UT varsity roster.

Last season the 20-year-old Weimar junior was 15 pounds overweight. He started only two games for Harold Bradley's championship team.

This season he has emerged as UT's top defensive player starting all but two early season games.

Albert Grasson, Yale fencing coach, succeeded his father, Robert, in 1951.

Prairie Lanes Tourney Nears Starting Date

Plans are nearing the completion stage for the Singles Class Sweepstakes bowling tournament at Prairie Lanes Recreation center.

The tourney will be held February 6 and 11. Deadline for registration is tomorrow.

Frank Sosa and David Olney of Prairie Lanes today said all sanctioned bowlers may participate in this tournament. They said any bowler who is bowling in a league or tournament in an establishment that is not a member of the Bowling Proprietors Assn. of America is only ineligible to bowl in a tournament that is sponsored by BPA.

The Prairie Lanes tourney will feature $300 in prize money and trophies. The February 6 bowling will start at 9:30 p. m. and the February sessions at 2 p. m.

Competition will be conducted in two classes, Class A will include bowlers sporting averages of 161 and over and Class B 160 and under.

Jap Baseball Czar Orders U.S. Payoff

TOKYO (AP)—Japan's commissioner of baseball, eager to preserve the peace with the U.S. high brass in the United States, today ordered the Nankai Hawks to pay the Chicago White Sox for pitcher Joe Stanka.

Commissioner Noboru Inoue declined to say what he thought the 29-year-old right-hander who jumped to Japanese baseball is worth. But he said the payment should be in cash, not players.

"I feel Nankai has no obligation to send players or make a cash payment for Stanka," Inoue said. "But relations between the two baseball circles should not be damaged by this incident."

Ohio Traffic Death Rate Said Declining

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—J. Grant Keys, director of highway safety, says traffic deaths began a decline in Ohio last September, and the December toll was one of the lowest for the month since 1944.

The Highway Safety Department announced a provisional December traffic death toll of 140. This won't be affirmed until six months after the end of the year.

Traffic deaths for the year, provisionally, totaled 1,985, an increase from 1,853 in 1959.

Keys noted that the onset of the year-end decline coincided roughly with the date the Highway Patrol was brought up to full strength.

Record 281 Candidates File in Mahoning Area

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A record 281 candidates filed petitions for election in three cities and four villages in Mahoning County before the deadline Wednesday. In Youngstown eight Democrats, three Republicans and one independent are seeking to oust Mayor Frank F. Franko.

In Campbell, three Democrats have filed opposing Mayor Joseph Vrabel. No Republicans have filed for that office. In Struthers, two Democrats and one Republican will oppose Mayor Harold Milligan.

Pro Matmen Rough It At Coliseum

Professional wrestling drew a crowd of more than 300 last night at the Fairgrounds Coliseum.

In the first match, a one-fall event with a 30-minute time limit, Johnny Demchuk defeated the 270 pound Russian Angel in 13 minutes.

The second event was a two out of three falls match which pitted the 265 pound negro wrestler, Mighty Joe, against Wild Bill Gallion. Mighty Joe, who outweighed his opponent by 50 pounds, took the match in two straight falls in eight and 14 minutes.

The Main Event was a rough-and-tumble tag team match pitting the German team of Eric von Brock and Fritz von Goering against Dr. Jerry Graham and Karl Krauser.

THE two Germans won the first fall as Von Brock pinned Graham in 13 minutes. The second fall was quickly won by Krauser and Graham when Dr. Jerry Graham put a submission hold on von Goering. After four minutes had elapsed in the third fall, von Brock and Graham were exhausted from slugging it out and both men fell to the mat with Graham falling on top of Von Brock. While the referee's head was turned, von Goering sneaked to the center of the ring and turned the two fallen men over so it would appear Von Brock had recovered and pinned Graham. That's the way it happened and the match was awarded to the team of Von Brock and von Goering.

Referee Johnny Carlin, former wrestler from Sweden, was an unpopular man after declaring the German team the winners. There will be more pro wrestling at the Fairgrounds coliseum Wednesday, starting at 8:30 p. m.

Views on Television-Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the mysteries of television is the way, week after week, Perry Como and his staff manage to turn out a smooth, tuneful and imaginative program. Almost any Wednesday the Como program proves more entertaining and better organized than the highly exploited special one-shot variety shows.

Wednesday night's Como show was no exception. His guests were singer Harry Belafonte and comedian Buddy Hackett. Each is a talented performer in his field, yet they are a difficult pair to blend into a well-knit show. But Como pulled it off.

Perhaps one of the secrets is that each program is based on an idea—often a fairly fragile one—but enough to give the hour form and substance. Wednesday night's, for instance, was a "stag show"—no women.

The camera work is always fine. Wednesday night's shots of Belafonte singing were so close one could see the pores of his skin and it was most effective. The sets are always clean and beautifully designed. Como sets a pleasant, even pace. And the program is always in good taste.

NBC's twin specials on Tuesday night—Bobby Darin followed by Jack Paar—knocked off the network opposition, according to an ARB over-night audience rating. Red Skelton and Garry Moore, usually top men in their time periods, were pushed into second places, a most unusual turn of events.

Recommended tonight: Zane Grey Theatre, CBS, 8:30-9—Danny Thomas and daughter, Maria, play together for the first time in "Honor Bright."

Brando Still Lives Alone While on Tahiti Film Set

Editor's Note: Following is the second in a series of articles about actor Marlon Brando on location in the South Seas for the filming of a new version of "Mutiny on the Bounty."

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie Writer

PAPEETE, Tahiti (AP) — How does Marlon Brando live in Tahiti? The same as he does in Hollywood—by his lonesome.

Brando is one of the noted individualists of our time, and he is maintaining that reputation here in the South Seas.

He lives a few miles out of town in a thatched house, open to the elements like most dwellings on the island. The house is on the palm-lined shore of the lagoon surrounding Tahiti. Nearby is another house where lives Bob Hoskins, Brando's friend since childhood and dialogue director for "Mutiny on the Bounty." There is another house for servants.

He mingles with other movie makers on the location. That does not mean he is aloof. Before the film started two months ago, he opened his home to 200 of the film company and greeted each with geniality at the door. The party cost him $2,000.

He is friendly but not chummy with the largely English cast for the Bounty saga. Aboard ship he occasionally plays chess with Tim Seeley, who has the part created by Franchot Tone. But much of the time he is closeted in his room below deck.

He reads: "I could have financed a small picture company with the cost of bringing my books out here by air," he commented. What does he read? "A lot of Dylan Thomas lately; he was a real character. Also I've been reading some Nietzsche. I don't know much about philosophy, but he seems rare—a real, biting satire."

He keeps up with world news by having the Sunday New York Times (30 cents) air mailed to him for $28 a copy. He is interested in news of the new Kennedy administration.

It's not all work and study for Marlon. He is frequently seen in the local night spots, sometimes dancing spiritedly in bare feet. He is never at a loss for female companionship.

On New Year's Eve, he hired one of the island's rattle-trap buses and filled it with 15 of the native girls who dance in the movie. They circled the island singing Tahitian songs with great gaiety.

He goes skin diving and water skiing, but refrains from fishing; he doesn't believe in killing animals except when necessary.

Theoretically, Brando is only a paid actor on the picture. In practice, it works otherwise. He is consulted on all policy matters. And his desires are always carried out. When he wants changes made in the script, they are made. This does not always set too well with the other actors.

Brando in Tahiti is different from the guarded, suspicious star in Hollywood. Here he will strip down and race into the surf to ride waves with natives, other "Mutiny" workers and a visiting reporter. I am able to report this: He is a better actor than wave rider.

Bonnie-Bradley Battle Awaited

Teams To Tangle In Garden Event

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
St. Bonaventure and Bradley, two college basketball powers just seven points shy of perfect records, play tonight at neutral Madison Square Garden in New York in the first of two showdowns that should establish the chief challengers to top-ranked Ohio State's national supremacy.

The Bonnies are second-ranked with a 15-1 record that includes a two-point loss (84-82) to Ohio State in the Holiday Festival at the Garden during Christmas week.

It's the first appearance back in the Garden for Coach Chuck Orsborn's Bradley Braves since they won the National Invitation Tournament there last March, in a 82-71 semifinal victory over St. Bonaventure.

The Bonnies from Olean, N.Y., who won twice in the Holiday Festival before losing to Ohio State in the final, have lost but four games in their last 36—and all four have come on the Garden court. They're a three-point Broadway pick for the Bradley duel, which caps a doubleheader matching Connecticut and Manhattan in the opener.

National scoring leader Frank Burgess (32.4) hit 35 points as Gonzaga downed Fresno State, 102-80, and seventh-ranked Louisville, beat Tampa 103-74 Wednesday night for its 16th victory in 19 starts. Strong Memphis State (15-1) won its sixth straight, 83-70 over Tennessee Tech and Army (13-4) pushed its winning streak to nine, 90-67 over Colgate.

Texas Tech moved Texas Christian 89-75 and slipped into a tie with idle Texas for first place in the Southwest Conference. Oklahoma State beat Missouri 61-55 in a Big Eight test.

Drake (11-6) snapped a five-game losing streak, beating Iowa State 83-81. Rutgers scored a 74-73 victory over Navy.

6 Pros Tied In Test at Palm Springs

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Six pros who carded 65s and 52 others who broke par are the guys to catch today as the $50,000 Palm Springs Desert golf classic goes into the second round of its 90-hole, five day play.

And the $50,000 prize to the lucky winner who scores a hole-in-one is still up for grabs although Dave Marr of Houston came heart-breakingly close when his ball rolled right over the cup on the 203-yard 16th at Thunderbird.

Marr's 65, however, was good enough to land him in a mass first place tie with Ken Venturi, Dow Finsterwald, Bob Rosburg, Dr. Cary Middlecoff and Charlie Sifford, the great Los Angeles Negro pro.

Sifford also was a near miss artist. Two putts that rimmed the cup and jumped out would have given him a 63—two strokes ahead of the field.

Grouped at 66 were Bob Shields, Jay Hebert and Don White. At 67 were Art Wall, Gardner Dickinson, Henry Williams, Jr., Fred Hawkins and Johnny Pott.

Fourteen more pros shot 68 and 15 made 69. Among the latter was Arnold Palmer, defending champion.

Joe Campbell, the Knoxville pro who won last year's hole-in-one jackpot, was one of a dozen 70 shooters.

Anti-Recession Program Sent To Congress

4. Announced he will create a "President's Advisory Committee on Labor-Management Policy" with 21 members drawn from labor, management and the public. This body, whose chairmanship will be alternated annually between the secretary of commerce and secretary of labor, will advise on wage and price policies essential to the curbing of inflation, as well as such problems as automation and economy-crippling strikes.

5. Spelled out details of the moves announced Wednesday—cutting the interest on government-insured mortgages from 5½ to 5¼ per cent; making early payment—within the next 30 to 60 days—of the $258 million of veterans' life insurance dividends due in 1961; and starting pilot food stamp plans in several areas.

The use of food stamps by needy families will be tested "as rapidly as possible" in localities in six areas—West Virginia, Pennsylvania, eastern Kentucky, northern Minnesota, Southern Illinois, and the Detroit area, he said. (Wednesday, Kennedy said the food stamp plan would be tried in five areas; a sixth area was added).

Kennedy held out the hope to veterans that they might get another insurance dividend check later on.

He said: "If sound insurance practices justify it, as I hope further study will show, an additional dividend will be paid this year from the substantial funds that have been accumulated."

Kennedy's promise that he would come back to Congress in 75 days "if these measures prove to be inadequate" could imply a request for a temporary income tax reduction.

His task force on economic policy, headed by Dr. Paul Samuelson of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, urged such a course if unemployment reached 7.5 per cent of the labor force.

The January unemployment figure released today represented 6.6 per cent, after allowance for seasonal factors. This was a slight improvement from December's 6.8 per cent, and Kennedy has stated that conditions do not now warrant tax reduction as an economic pump-primer.

The message contained hints that the Federal Reserve Board and the Treasury have reached agreement on policies to be pursued jointly to help reduce the U.S. deficit in international payments.

This is a touchy problem for a lowering of short-term borrowing rates—desirable to combat recession—tends to send capital out of the country to foreign markets where interest rates are higher. Kennedy said he would describe the new government plans in a balance-of-payments message to Congress shortly.

The President's economic policy recommendations and announcements included the following:

Social Security

Five improvements in benefits would begin on April 1, if Congress gives quick approval. They would be financed by taxing workers and employers an additional ¼ of 1 per cent each starting on Jan. 1, 1963, when the next regular increase—of ½ cent each—is due to take effect.

The five proposals are:

Raising the minimum old age pension from $33 to $43 a month; this would help more than 2.2 million persons in the first year.

Permitting men to start collecting retirement pensions at age 62, as women now may do. The pensions would be smaller than are available when payments start at age 65. This would benefit some 600,000 men, and save some men from going on the relief rolls, Kennedy said.

Increasing the widow's benefit from 75 per cent to 85 per cent of the amount of her husband's benefit. This would increase payments to 1,550,000 widows.

Broadening disability insurance. Such benefits are paid now only if the disability is expected to result in death or last for a long, indefinite period. Kennedy urged that payments start when the worker has been totally disabled for six months.

Liberalizing eligibility. Pensions may be paid now only if the retired person worked in jobs covered by Social Security in one out of every three quarters since 1950. The proposal would reduce this to one quarter year out of every four.

Jobless Pay

The Kennedy plan would permit the states voluntarily to extend unemployment benefits, by using federal funds, to persons who have exhausted regular benefits since October 31.

The extension would equal half of the duration provided by the state, up to 13 weeks. The overall benefits would not exceed 39 weeks.

Kennedy had announced that his plan would be self-sustaining, and today he told how: The money would be advanced from regular federal funds, but would be repaid by the states in full later by raising the portion of taxable payroll from the present maximum

Ashville News Report By Mrs. Arthur Deal Jr. Phone YU 3-4117

Those who were able to attend the Broadway musical production of Rogers and Hammerstein's "South Pacific" Monday evening in the Ashville School Auditorium had a real treat. The production as a whole was superb from the casting right down to the behind-the-stage hands.

The musical was presented by students from Ashville with students from Scioto Twp. and Walnut Twp. Schools, assisting also. The Ashville Band, which played the music was well rehearsed. They played on the stage behind the direction of William Pangburn, instrumental instructor at Ashville.

Everett Mehrley, vocal instructor at Ashville, directed and played the piano for all of the vocal arrangements. Don Metzler, music instructor at Scioto, presided at the organ. These three men worked countless hours the past few months to show the people of our community the talent that we have in our own school.

The students put in many hours rehearsing and setting up stage scenery and making costumes. Without the help of all of them, the Ashville Band Boosters, and many others, the production could have not been possible.

When the curtain went up the auditorium was filled to capacity with an appreciative audience. Over 600 seats were filled.

LUTHER BILLIS played by Jim McCord and Bloody Mary, played by Marty Dore, stole the show with their comedy parts in the play. Miss Dore also sang the beautiful "Bali Hai" and "Happy Talk".

Also acting and singing superbly were Teresa Cummins as Ensign Nellie Forbush, Jim Cooper as Emile de Beque, Don Younk as Lt. Joseph Cable, and Sally and Gary Tosca playing Ngana and Jerome, children of de Beque. The latter two sang the "Dites-moi" in French and spoke most all of their lines in French.

Miss Cummins sang "A Cockeyed Optimist", "I'm Gonna Wash that Man Right Outa My Hair", of $3,000 per employee to $4,800.

The permanent improvements in unemployment compensation—a separate program—will be recommended to Congress by the end of March, Kennedy said.

"A Wonderful Guy", and "Honey Bun". Cooper sang "Some Enchanted Evening" and "This Nearly Was Mine". Younk sang "My Girl Back Home", "Younger than Springtime", and "Carefully Taught".

The male chorus sang "Bloody Mary" and "There is Nothin' Like a Dame". Others acting in the play were Henry by Mike Neff, Stewpot by Jerry Smith, Professor by Harry Rainey, Capt. George Brackett by David Newton, Cmdr. William Harrison by Leonard Dixon, Yeoman Herbert Quale by Jerry Owens, Sgt. Kenneth Johnson by John Wylie, Radio Operator Bob McCaffrey by Clyde Campbell, Ensign Lesa Manelle by Cindy Young, Ensign Pamela Whitmore by Lois Burnier, and Liat by Carole Wylie.

Again we say hats off to everyone who made it possible to bring "South Pacific" to Ashville for one night. It was a job well done.

A County Faculty Basketball Tournament will begin at 7 p. m. Tuesday in the Circleville High School Auditorium with the Ashville Faculty meeting in Circleville Faculty for the first game. This game will be followed with Westfall Faculty playing Logan Elm Faculty. All proceeds will be turned over to the Pickaway County Polio Foundation.

Two benefit games were played at Ashville, January 4 with the proceeds of $66.80 being turned over to the Polio Foundation also. In to the Polio Foundation also. In grade boys lost to South Bloomfield 5th and 6th grade boys, 33-18.

In the second game Ashville Faculty was defeated also by Logan Elm Faculty with a score of 72-58.

This Sunday evening the First English Lutheran Church Senior League is planning a Hobo Party at 6 p. m. Guests of the Senior League will be the Junior League and Senior Leaguers. All are to come dressed as hobos and bring a covered dish and table service for a big family night together.

The Bastion Funeral Home made the following ambulance runs this past week: January 26 took Mrs. Ray Cupp of Duval to St. Ann's Hospital, Columbus; Saturday, took Charles Trone to Marcy Hospital, Columbus; and Sunday took Mrs. Thomas Gleich to Berger Hospital, Circleville.

DiSalle's Tax Rebate Idea under Fire

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A proposal by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle that the federal government return a portion of income taxes on the states to help pay educational costs is not as attractive as it appears, U.S. Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., said Wednesday night.

Sen. Cooper, speaking at the biennial legislative banquet of the Ohio Education Association, said:

Prince's Marriage To Commoner Out

LONDON (AP)—A British newspaper reported today that Crown Prince Harald of Norway is in love with the pretty daughter of an Oslo store owner but has been told he cannot marry her because it would jeopardize the monarchy.

Instead, the tabloid Daily Sketch reported, King Olav wants his handsome heir to marry Princess Sophia of Greece, 22-year-old daughter of King Paul.

Prince Harald is 24. Both his sisters married commoners and lost all rights to the throne.

The prince's friendship with

Sonia Haraldsen, 23, has been common knowledge in Norway for some time. Neither her friends nor palace sources in Oslo would comment on the report in the Daily Sketch.

South Point Educator Named to State Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The executive head of South Point schools in Lawrence County, Donald A. Leighty, 36, has been named to a consultant post in the Ohio Education Association's Public Relations Division. Executive Secretary T. G. O'Keefe of the association made the announcement today.

"Other methods (of federal aid to schools) . . . include returning to the states cigarette taxes or a portion of federal income taxes on the assumption that all federal control would be avoided. The defect in such proposals, it seems to me, is that the funds released are not related to need."

"I do not doubt that very soon the Congress would bring new taxes to replace the billions released to the states."

DiSalle made his suggestion Jan. 21 during a meeting of the National Governors conference executive committee in Washington.

Cooper said he favors a combination of flat federal grants for states which are able to meet minimum levels of education with larger, variable grants scaled directly to need for low income states. This theory, the Kentucky Republican said, was developed in 1948 and 1949 by the late Ohio Republican senator Robert A. Taft.

Smoke Inhalation Kills Cincinnati Woman, 45

CINCINNATI (AP)—Mrs. Deia Adams, 45, died Wednesday after being found unconscious in her burning home. Death apparently was due to smoke inhalation.

Firemen said Mrs. Adams apparently had carried some household belongings out of the burning house and was overcome when she went back in for others.
